EXPERIENCE THE ARTS

Friends of Kennedy Museum of Art

Creating Connections for University & Community Through Art

INTERPERT + INSPIRE

The Kennedy Museum of Art is an integral part of the educational, research, and public service missions of Ohio University. Located in the historic Ridges complex in Athens, Ohio, The Kennedy Museum of Art enhances the intellectual and cultural life of Ohio University and the Southeast Ohio region through quality national and international exhibitions, collection-based research, and diverse formal and informal learning opportunities.

CONSERVE + PRESERVE

More than 8,000 objects drawn from a broad range of cultures comprise The Kennedy Museum of Art's collections, which include a unique and culturally significant collection of Southwest Native American arts — nearly 700 primarily Navajo weavings and examples of Zuni, Hopi and Navajo turquoise and silverwork jewelry. Of additional note are a renowned post-1945 print collection, a growing photography collection, 20th century art, ceramics, and a notable collection of African art which includes textiles, sculpture, jewelry, and ceremonial items from central and western Africa.

EDUCATE + SHARE

As an academic museum with a teaching mission, the Museum also provides Ohio University students, faculty and staff, as well as the greater community with engaging and thought-provoking encounters. Exhibitions, programs, and events are designed to acknowledge that art is best experienced when presented in a contextual and interdisciplinary environment, and the Museum's gallery spaces serve as a learning laboratory for Ohio University, community, schools, and visitors.
